Benefits

INDEPENDENT SCHOOL REVIEW provides:

- a consistent framework, related to the ISI inspection standard, to gather self-evaluation information, produce subject area, department and whole school reports and subsequent improvement action plans;
- the means to bring together, at the click of a mouse, subject area area or department self-evaluation information for upward collation and editing to produce higher level reports;
- for boarding schools, the ability to create a pre-inspection self-evaluation report against the CSCI inspection framework, or, for all schools, against the ISI criteria
- a balanced scorecard, 'traffic light', framework to set targets and measure results for your school's performance objectives.

Introduction to a School

Experience shows that the best way to introduce Independent School Review to a school is to ask Anthony Darbyshire, the designer of the program, to visit the school for a 3 hour introduction and training workshop with senior members of staff. This workshop will review all the program features and how they are used, debate with staff the best way to introduce and deploy the program and provide a practical IT session. It ensures successful introduction of Independent School Review.
